Hope In Rescue Attempt

Lower Man To Probe Camera Revelations

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP) — A man will be lowered today down the escape hole from where miners David Fellin and Henry Throne were rescued Tuesday to see if Louis Beva is in the same cavern 308 feet underground.

H. B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines, said the decision was made after a television camera lowered into the chamber showed "what appears to be a man's body."

Charnbury, at the scene of the mine in nearby Sheppton, told a news conference "as a result of seeing the television this morning it was decided, though there was not unanimous agreement, that we think we have enough evidence for someone to go down the hole."

"The plans are in motion and someone has been chosen," he said, adding the identity of the man — "a pretty husky boy" — could be kept secret for the would be kept secret for the present.

Charnbury said he hoped the descent down the 17½ inch wide shaft would be made this afternoon, at a time still undetermined.

Charnbury had visited Fellin, 58, in his room at the Hazleton State Hospital before dawn today and showed him six pictures.

Shackles Apparently Takes Life

Fred L. Shackles, 39, apparently took his own life while sitting in his automobile beside the Shackles home, 300 East 27th Street, about 10:40 o'clock Thursday night. Shackles was dead on arrival at the Bothwell hospital.

According to Mrs. Shackles, they had been to a friend's home and on returning she was in the kitchen doing some work, when her husband went out of the house. In a few seconds she heard a shot and their oldest son ran out to the car about the same time his mother, Mrs. Cora Shackles, 320 East 27th, and his brother Albert, who lives at 301 East 28th, reached the car.

The youth picked up a gun and carried it into the home, later turning it over to Sgt. Charles Stuart of the police department who arrived at the home for the investigation.

Shackles was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance.

He was employed by Tempel-Collison Co., and Louis H. Tempel.

Jr., his employer, said that he talked with Shackles, Thursday afternoon and he appeared to be in good spirits, and there was no indication there was a anything wrong. Shackles, he said, had asked to have part of Friday off to attend the funeral of his nephew, Stephen Douglas Rogers to be held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Shackles is the father of nine children who with his wife Ruby Rogers Shackles survive. The children are Fred L. Shackles III, 16, Lindsay, 15, Jewell, 13, Harold, 11, Rickey 9, Terry, 8, Regina, 7, Traicia, 5, and David, 3. Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Cora Shackles, two brothers, Albert and Percy, 515 East 25th, and two sisters, Mrs. Eva Anderson, Lakewood Heights, and Mrs. Louella Stevens, of Route 5, Sedalia.

His father and two brothers, Homer and Herman preceded him in death.

He was born in Sedalia, June 4, 1924, and spent practically his entire life in Sedalia. On June 2, 1945, he was married to Ruby Rogers.

Shackles was a veteran of World War II and spent nine months in the service.

The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Walter P. Arnold officiating.

Tom Trout will sing "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow" and the "Old Rugged Cross," accompanied at the organ by Miss Lillian Fox.

Pallbearers will be Leonard Shackles, David Shackles, Ralph Anderson, Leon Anderson, Carl Stevens, Gene Lakin.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

JFK Seeks Restoration Of Aid Cuts

Full Plan Needed In Tense Times, President States

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy appealed today for restoration of foreign aid funds slashed by the House, saying "freedom does not come easily or cheaply" and the full program is needed at a time of "very intense" peaceful coexistence.

Standing with Kennedy at an impromptu press conference, Gen. Lucius Clay said that in slicing $600 million from the aid authorization bill, the House has "gone too far and seriously endangered the program."

Clay, chairman of a committee that recommended gradual reduction of aid programs earlier this year, said he was particularly disturbed about reductions in funds for military assistance and the Alliance For Progress.

The Alliance For Progress involves aid for Latin America.

Kennedy said "it is important that the American people understand that this affects security and the balance of power all over the world."

He argued that if Congress does not restore the money, "This means the United States will not fulfill its obligations of the Alliance For Progress—it would limit very much our ability to influence events."

Asked if he wanted the full $4.5 billion he asked originally, Kennedy said he wants to get as much of that amount as he can but recognizes some reductions are inevitable.

The youth picked up a gun and carried it into the home, later turning it over to Sgt. Charles Stuart of the police department who arrived at the home for the investigation.

Shackles was taken to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance.

Wheat Farmer Wins Minnesota Fair Race

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Lenny Funk of Otis, Kan., a 34-year-old wheat farmer, won the Minnesota State Fair's 200-lap feature new-model stock car race Thursday in world record time for the International Motor Contest Association.

His time was one hour, 30 minutes, 33.4 seconds in his 1963 Ford. The old IMCA 100-mile record was 1:30:40.40.69 set in 1961 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, by Ramo Stott of Keokuk, Iowa.

US Students Still Defiant Of Policies

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty American students who defied a State Department ban on travel to Cuba returned by plane from Madrid Thursday night, many of them still defiant of U.S. policies.

Some of the students staged a "stand-in" at Idlewild Airport to protest a government announcement that their passports would be invalidated.

The "stand-in" ended two hours later when they were told their passports would not be marked invalid. However, each student was presented with a State Department letter noting that his or her passport had been suspended because of the trip to Cuba.

"We consider this another victory," said Lee Levi Laub of New York, a former Columbia University student.

Ten of the students were subpoenaed to appear Sept. 12 before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Tankers Crash

Air and Surface Vessels Turn Up Planes' Debris

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Search planes and surface vessels turned up more debris today in an intensive hunt for survivors of two Air Force KC135 jet tanker planes that may have gone down about 335 miles southwest of Bermuda with 11 crewmen aboard.

"One pilot described the areas as a 'floating junkyard,'" said John Vandegrift, spokesman for the Air Rescue Service Center at Orlando Air Force Base, Fla.

Vandegrift said the debris, including parts of KC135 aircraft, a pilot's helmet life raft, and survival suits, were scattered over a ten-mile area.

Coast Guard headquarters in New York, in charge of the overall rescue operation, said that the cutter Owasco had picked up a number of items normally carried by planes about 335 miles southwest of Bermuda.

The guard said the items, which included navigation charts, pieces of plywood and various rubber products, all had Air Force markings.

Debris indicated the planes might have plunged into the Atlantic about 750 miles east-northeast of Miami. It was located in an oil slick and airplane panels were found in the area.

The Air Force refused to comment on the possibility of a collision.

The key items were three life

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Some Nebraskans have taken up the cause of Rosy, the pet skunk.

Rosy was seized Sunday by Missouri conservation agents from two youths at the Missouri Fair in Sedalia. A state law bars holding a wild fur-bearing animal without a permit.

The youths, sons of Ed L. Pruitt, 52, a Kansas City contractor, said Rosy was among a litter of baby skunks they had raised after a dog killed the mother.

Pruitt was arrested after a conservation agent and police went to his home to look for other animals Sunday. The officers said he threatened them with a shotgun.

Pruitt said he told the officers they could not enter his home without a search warrant.

The contractor said he would plead innocent today at a hearing on a charge of common assault.

Pruitt said he had received a letter from Sam Howell, a county commissioner on Douglas County, Nebraska, who enclosed a $100 check to bail Rosy out of a cage at Sedalia. The money was from other Nebraskans. Howell suggested taking a petition to the Missouri governor.

Monday, Sept. 2, being a legal holiday, there will be no delivery of mail either on the rural routes or in the city. All service windows in the lobby of the post office will be closed. The regular holiday collection schedule will prevail from the street letter boxes. Special delivery mail will be delivered.

Rescue Five Miners Others Found, Dead

Final Toll 18 Killed In Potash Mine Blast

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Five more trapped miners were rescued alive and in good condition Thursday night, but 10 others were found dead.

The final toll was 18 killed.

Seven survived; two were rescued earlier.

The five found Thursday night were in surprisingly good condition in the same deep tunnel from which the other two escaped Wednesday morning, the day after 25 miners were caught 3,000 feet down by an explosion.

Eight men were already known dead when two rescue teams started a now or never search for the remaining 15 late in the afternoon.

Within 90 minutes, June Crawford, chief engineer of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., owner of the potash mine, announced emotionally: "Five survivors have been found in the east shaft. The men are walking out of that drift."

Then up they came by the lift, grimy but smiling, in such good condition there was little need of treatment. And one of them, Grant Eslick said, "Sure, I'm ready to go back to mining."

Three hours after the rescue

Crawford had to tell the tearful wives and parents still waiting by the mine what most of them had feared: The last 10 men in the other tunnel where the blast occurred were dead.

Amid some miner's charges that safety precautions were lax at the mine plans were announced for a joint state-federal investigation starting Monday. A state official said: "We'll subpoena and question everyone who might have anything to say."

The last five survivors owed their lives to the first two and their own makeshift barricades that kept out deadly gasses while they awaited rescue.

When Paul McKinney and Donald Hanna started out the tunnel toward safety Wednesday, they came across a ruptured air line leading back to the other five. They paused to fix it, weren't able to get the ends completely together, but came close. It was enough.

Sources said Thursday night the alert had been in effect since Monday. The military was understood to be watching particularly for any attack from Nicaragua or other Central-American nations which have offered refuge to anti-Castro exiles.

In San Jose, Costa Rica, reports circulated of unusual activity among Cuban exiles in Costa Rica and Nicaragua. Manuel Artime, refugee leader who participated in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961, arrived in Managua, Nicaragua, to confer with anti-Castro exiles, sources said.

The Cuban command apparently braced for a repetition of a recent series of hit-and-run raids. The last occurred Aug. 19 at a metal plant on the north coast where there are many oil refineries and factories.

The Castro government has accused the United States of being directly responsible for the raids.

Police apparently had no solid clues, but they leaned to the theory that the killer was the man who had made obscene and threatening telephone calls to one of the victims — Janice Wylie, pretty blonde researcher for Newsweek magazine.

Miss Wylie's father, writer Max Wylie, said he thought the caller was "maybe a crazy kid who saw a pretty pair of legs."

The temperature Friday was 60 at 7 a.m., and 85 at noon. Low Tuesday night was 60.

The temperature one year ago today was 95; low 69; two years ago, high 91; low 68; three years ago, high 94; low 70.

Lake of Ozark stage: 56.3 feet, 3.7 below full reservoir; no change.

Williams said that the House Ways and Means Committee had made so many changes in the original bill that finance members should have a chance to study it before starting to take testimony.

Williams has contended that the tax cut would not be passed this year and that the Democrats secretly want it that way.

He insisted they would like it to take effect closer to the 1964 presidential election date.

The Treasury estimated Thursday that if the tax cut goes through federal tax revenues will increase $20 billion by fiscal 1967, three years from now.

The projection was based on the assumption that the cut would stimulate production and that there would be a significant drop in unemployment by 1966.

Roger Martin Will Explain Gospel Meaning

"What Is Your Gospel?" is the subject for the Rev. Roger Martin's morning message this Sunday at Faith Baptist Church.

The choir will sing "What Did He Do?" Mrs. Roger Martin will sing "On a Rugged Hill." Sunday School classes for all ages begin at 9:45 a.m., followed by the preaching service at 10:45 a.m.

At 7 p.m. a series of messages from themes in the Book of Proverbs will begin. The opening message is "A Foolish Tongue and a Wise Tongue." "Jesus Won My Heart" is the title of the choir number. Mel and Edythe Crumbliss will sing "Somebody Else Told You." The Lord's Supper will be observed in the evening service.

Young People's Fellowship will meet after the service for their program, "Puzzle Time," directed by Edythe Crumbliss. The young people are asked to bring their Bibles and pencils.

The Book of Revelation is the subject for a new chapter-by-chapter study at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday services. Mr. Martin begins this Wednesday night with the first chapter. He will distribute mimeographed outlines and questions. The choir will practice after this service.

Klemme Talks About Old Testament Man

Pastor Armin F. Klemme will conclude his series of messages on "Personalities of Genesis" this Sunday with "Joseph" at Immanuel United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed). The time of Church School will once again be 9:30 a.m. instead of the summer schedule of 9 a.m. and church worship at 10:35 a.m. instead of 10 a.m.

Men attending the area meeting at Jefferson City will leave the church at 6 p.m. Tuesday. Elizabeth Circle meets at the home of Mrs. Finice Porter, 1320 East 16th, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel will conduct the first mission study session on the theme, "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia," at 11 a.m. Thursday. Women's Guild luncheon follows at noon. Mrs. Edwin Bruening and Mrs. Carl E. Zimmerman will present the program, "Echoes of the Fulton Conference." There will also be business and worship. That same evening all of the church school workers (teachers, helpers, superintendents, and officers) are asked to meet for the quarterly workers' conference at 7 p.m.

Miss Mary Scott

Mission Officer And Writer Talk At Nazarene Sun.

Miss Mary L. Scott and Miss Helen Temple will present the major part of the missionary program of the Church of the Nazarene Sunday at the Sedalia Church of the Nazarene.

Miss Scott has been general secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the church since 1950. She was a missionary in North China from 1940 to 1945. After a furlough in the United States, she returned to missionary work in South China in 1947.

Two years later, communist intrusions and political upheaval forced her to return to the United States.

Miss Temple has written many missionary books. She is office editor of the denomination's missionary magazine, "The Other Sheep."

The public is invited to Sunday morning and evening services, when the guests will speak.

Voyage of Life Sermon Subject At East Broadway

The sermon topic chosen for Sunday morning at East Broadway Christian Church by the Rev. Cleo Gray is "The Stormy Voyage Of A Christian Life."

Miss Catherine Garman, at the organ, will play; prelude, "Prayer" by Sergisson; offertory, "Offertoire" by Ritter; postlude, "Tender Memories" by Heyser.

The choir will sing, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Leaton. Evening sermon will be "Tools That Satan Uses."

Bible study is each Sunday at 7 p.m. with class for all ages. Choir practice is at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Area Men's Fellowship will meet at Smithton Church at 8 p.m. Friday.

Dorcas Circle will have an all day meeting at the Church Thursday, Sept. 5.

Jehovah's Witnesses Consider the Future

"The Future in The Light of Bible Prophecy" will be the subject discussed by D. Burrough, a minister associated with the Independence Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. His talk will be given at Kingdom Hall at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Following this talk will be the Weekly Watchtower study. The

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our 23-year-old daughter was married last spring. She is expecting a baby in November.

Both she and her husband have two more years of college. She is working on her master's degree, he on his Ph. D.

Last week my daughter told me that she and her husband have decided to give up their child for adoption. She says the doctor will handle all the details and she is not going to even see the baby.

Her reason for doing this is that both she and her husband want to finish their education and with a baby it would be impossible.

I am horrified and have told her so, but I can't seem to reach her. These are intelligent, decent young people, Ann. They would be wonderful parents. I have offered to take the baby and she said,

"No, if we see the baby we would want to keep it."

Please help me persuade her against doing this terrible thing.

Dear No Words: Your observation that "They would be wonderful parents" is incorrect. The prime requisite for successful parenthood is to WANT a child. These two "intelligent, decent" people don't qualify.

Of course, it's a dreadful thing they are considering and they will probably regret it later, but this is their decision to make. I earnestly hope—with you, my dear—that they will change their minds, but now that you've let them know how you feel, stay out of it.

Boy Scout Troop 69 will meet at 7 p.m. Monday.

Christian Day School will open the school year with a service in church at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Men's Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Walther League will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Executive board will meet at 6:45 p.m.

Ladies' Aid will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday. Junior choir (grades 7 through 11) will rehearse at 3:45 p.m.

The children's confirmation class will meet Wednesday at 4:15 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m. in the face. I've threatened, begged and punished in every possible way. Nothing helps. My best friend who is a very smart woman says it's natural for a brother and a sister to have disagreements. Please help.—BATTLE WEARY.

Dear Weary: It IS natural for a brother and a sister to have disagreements, but your two are trying to kill each other.

Such hostility in the mid-teens is a symptom of deep-seated emotional problems. When a boy and a girl at 15 and 16 are so full of hostility that they must resort to physical violence, it means they BOTH need professional help.

Dear Ann Landers: That boy who kissed his sweetheart with his eyes open—that was me, 20 years ago. I wasn't even aware I was doing it and I considered it perfectly normal. I don't remember ever seeing anything.

Rather than mention it and make me self-conscious, my boyfriend simply brushed my eyelids with her fingertips. What I believed was a gesture of tenderness was a signal to turn off the headlights.

So please print this letter and give the girl a helping hand. I think my wife's system is infinitely more romantic than saying, "What are you looking at, Bub?"

EDITORIALSIn the Lighter Vein

Somehow prior to Fair week we overlooked tossing our annual barb at the M. K. & T. railway underpass on Highway 50 just east of Smith-Cotton High school because the weed crop is unsightly there most of the time.

Such a condition is poor advertising for Sedalia especially during Fair week when so many out-of-town visitors come here.

Earlier in the year publicity regarding the ratty appearance of the sod on the two traffic islands on Broadway brought corrective response which was appreciated by Sedalians. But why not plant some flowers or shrubs there?

Aside from that, our attention was called indirectly to the Katy underpass by a letter sent to the Chamber of Commerce and passed onto us. We can't make out the signature, but anyway the subject matter is of current interest even if a bit satiric.

Let's read it, in part:

"The Sedalia Democrat carried an item the past week to the effect that a movement is on foot to beautify the several downtown parking areas.

"In that connection, I would offer a suggestion to the committee who will have that project in tow.

"Let's carry out the same general idea for the parking lots."

A quick poll of the pollen sufferers—the hay fever victims—reveals they are turning up their dripping noses right now to any suggestion the weed crop in the underpass be extended to the parking lots.

If anything they insist the pollen-manufacturing growth in the underpass be immediately exterminated for the benefit of all itching eyes and running noses.

So on with the crusade against weeds, not only in the underpass, but also in a hundred neglected spots all over the city.

Kerchoo!

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has a tendency to politicize amnesia when his Democrats join Republicans to do him in. He finds it easier to remember what the Republicans did.

He said once Republicans have made "no" a political program, but so have a lot of his Democrats.

The country has in effect three political parties—Democrats, Southern Democrats, and Republicans—just because the Southerners have gone against him so many times.

They operate under the Democratic label but can make the Democratic party's campaign promises look like balloons in a tack factory any time it suits them, which is often, to clasp hands with Republicans.

Two recent examples:

1. Southern Democrats, against Kennedy's civil rights program from the start, are expected to try to filibuster it to death.

2. Just last week they harpooned him when the House voted to cut foreign aid $365 million below what he asked.

Kennedy that same afternoon rushed to denounce the Republicans for the blow. But they could not have done it if a big bunch of Democrats hadn't joined them.

The Democrats have such a majority over the Republicans in both houses of Congress they could put through any program Kennedy wanted—provided they stuck together—even if all the Republicans voted no. They don't stick together.

In the 435-seat House, with three vacancies, Democrats outnumber Republicans 256-176. In the 100-seat Senate the lineup is 67 Democrats, 33 Republicans. On foreign aid in the House this was how the voting went:

Against the cut: 188 (172 Democrats, 16 Republicans); for the cut: 222 (66 Democrats, 156 Republicans). If only 18 of those 66 Democrats had stuck with Kennedy the vote would have been 204 for the cut but 206 against.

The over-all aid bill then went to the Senate on a final 224-186 vote.

All but three of the 66 Democrats lined up with the Republicans were from Southern or border states. This defection of the South has haunted Kennedy. There was a shining example of it last year.

That was when the Senate, with Democrats outnumbering Republicans 64-36, killed Kennedy's program of medical care for the aged. That majority of 28 could have swamped the Republicans on any issue.

But this happened on medicare:

The vote to kill was 52-48, with 21 Democrats and 31 Republicans doing the killing. All but 4 of the 21 Democrats were Southerners.

If just 3 of the 21 had stayed with their party the bill would have carried.

Kennedy made this a campaign issue in the 1962 elections, blaming "nearly all the Republicans and a handful of Democrats" who joined them for his defeat. He ruefully admitted any time he offers a controversial bill he'll win or lose by three or four votes.

Still, Kennedy won't fight with Congress. He never has. He just complains occasionally, particularly about the Republicans. He said: "There is no sense in raising hell and then not being successful."

This week, after his complaint about the Republicans' part in cutting foreign aid, Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona cited some of Kennedy's own records on foreign aid when he was a Democratic senator.

He listed four occasions between 1953 and 1958 when Kennedy voted for foreign aid cuts in President Eisenhower's program.

"We should realize that some Democrats have voted with the Republicans for a good 25 years, really since 1938. So we have a very difficult time on a controversial piece of legislation in securing a working majority."

Came the elections. They didn't change much. The Democrats retained just about the same huge majorities, although Kennedy had asked for even bigger ones. He ruefully admitted any time he offers a controversial bill he'll win or lose by three or four votes.

Still, Kennedy won't fight with Congress. He never has. He just complains occasionally, particularly about the Republicans. He said: "There is no sense in raising hell and then not being successful."

BERRY'S WORLD

...And now for a report on today's pollen count!

Center at MissoulaSmokejumpers Elite Corps Taking Danger in Stride

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—A smokejumper is somewhat like a frail judo expert who climbs into the ring with a heavyweight.

He faces a larger, and stronger foe. But he knows that one swift, precise blow—if timed and placed correctly—can topple his opponent.

An elite corps of 175 men, on standby at Missoula throughout the summer, can be ready in minutes to fly to any area in the nation. Actually, most jumps occur in the Pacific Northwest, principally Montana and Idaho. But Missoula-based men also parachute into fires in Alaska or New Mexico.

Dedicated in 1954 by President Eisenhower, the Missoula smokejumper center was officially named the Missoula Aerial Fire Depot. The site includes a sizable training area that looks much like an Army paratrooper school. It is the largest of eight such facilities in the nation.

"We take considerable pride in our training program," says Henry J. Viche, air operations officer. "We've made 55,000 jumps since 1940 without a fatality caused during the descent or landing."

"About 1,000 young men apply for smokejumper duty at Missoula each summer. We take about 60 of them. We're choosy and we keep our standards high."

An applicant is rejected if he hasn't worked one summer on a regular fire suppression crew.

"Our typical smokejumper," says Viche, "is a college student about 24. He must meet demanding physical requirements but there are no limitations on academic background. We get them from all fields—we often get ap-lications from divinity students."

Viche, born in Missoula, has been with the U.S. Forest Service for 34 years.

Viche directs all aerial operations in Region One—33-million acres that includes all of Montana and parts of Idaho, Washington and North Dakota.

A smokejumper looks like a low-level astronaut. He wears a white nylon suit, heavy gloves and shoes, crash helmet, wire mask, two orange and white parachutes and other equipment to aid him in any emergency.

He carries in a three-pound cylindrical belt kit a protective fire shelter that looks like a baby tepee. If trapped by a blaze, he huddles inside the recently developed aluminized cone capable of withstanding temperatures of 750 degrees.

"It's kind of a last resort," Viche says. "It has great potential in saving lives."

Once on the ground, the smokejumper cuts a trench ahead of an advancing fire. Eventually, he encircles the flames with a wide path, utilizing heavier equipment as power saws dropped separately.

Foresters say the secret of the smokejumpers' success is speed.

"The sooner we get to a fire, the better the chance of controlling it," says Viche. "Once a fire spreads over thousands of acres, we have to work on several fronts. Eighty per cent of the fires still are small when we get to them. We're able to confine them quickly."

First-year men are paid $2.20 an hour—a rate that also applies for overtime.

The Doctor's MailbagUnder-Eye Discoloration No Serious Medical Problem

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D.

Q—What causes dark discoloration under the eyes? What can be done for this?

A—If other members of your family have the same condition it may be a hereditary tendency to have very thin skin in that region. This would allow the dark, venous blood to show through.

Late hours with not enough sleep is another cause. The condition is often more noticeable to the girl who inspects herself too closely than it is to friends. In any case it is not serious, but let's not bother you a great deal. The antiperspirants preparations used in the armpits are of no value for sweating of the hands. Is there anything I can use to stop this?

A—Sweating of the palms is almost always due to instability of the nervous mechanism that controls the caliber of the blood vessels in the skin. This mechanism makes them dilate in a warm environment to permit increased sweating and contract when the environment is cold. The antiperspirants preparations used in the armpits are of no value for sweating of the hands. Coffee increases nervous tension and should therefore be avoided. Propantheline bromide taken by mouth has been used with success by some persons with this condition. Consult your doctor for the amount and frequency of the dose required.

The most embarrassing thing in the world is watching the boss do something you said couldn't be done.

Elijah G. Garst
(Sedalia)

Elijah Gale Garst, 82, 417 East 14th, died at Bothwell Hospital at 9:50 a.m. Friday. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Garst was born in Virginia, Sept. 24, 1880. He came to Missouri in 1908.

Until his health failed and he retired Mr. Garst had followed the machinist trade, being in business for himself a number of years and during his later life was employed as a machinist at White- man Air Force Base.

He was married at Sedalia, Jan. 9, 1928, to Miss Mabel Mae Ballard. Mrs. Garst died at Sedalia, July 30, 1954.

Mr. Garst is survived by two half-sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Ferguson and Mrs. Dolly Smallwood of Roanoke, Va.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Harry Purvis officiating.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens will sing "Near Ye My God to Thee," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. H. O. Foraker.

Pallbearers will be Lloyd Farris, Joe Kabler, D. E. Edwards, J. P. Phillips, George Long and L. A. Salmons.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery. The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Kate R. Edwards
(Sedalia)

Mrs. Kate Rothwell Edwards, 1708 South Grand, died at Bothwell Hospital at 3:45 p.m. Thursday.

She was born in Dresden, daughter of the late George C. and Emma McCormack Rothwell. She married William C. Edwards who preceded her in death.

Mrs. Edwards was a member of First Christian Church, Sedalia Chapter No. 57, O.E.S. and the G.I.A. of B.L.E.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. Boyd Rogers, 1720 South Grand; two nieces and two nephews. She was preceded in death by six brothers, George, Emmett, Ed, Abner, Vest, and Willie, in infancy.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Harry Purvis officiating.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens will sing "Near Ye My God to Thee," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. H. O. Foraker.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery. The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Robert Fergerson
(Kansas City)

Robert Fergerson, 32, Kansas City, formerly of Versailles, was killed in Kansas City Thursday afternoon, when a tow truck he was on crashed on to a train off the Intercity Viaduct.

Another Kansas Citian, Samuel Jones, was also killed in the accident.

The truck cable hook was lifting a truck transmission that had fallen off the viaduct in an earlier accident that afternoon. A switch engine, passing beneath the viaduct caught the cable hook and pulled the truck off the span.

Surviving are his wife, Opal, of the home, 1326 Washington Street, Kansas City; four step-children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fergerson, Warsaw; and seven brothers and sisters.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church, Sweet Springs. The Rev. Roger Abington, pastor, will officiate.

The body was taken to Reser Funeral Home, Warsaw, Friday afternoon.

She was the mother of city councilman and mayor pro tem Edgar B. Smith, 50, State Fair.

Mrs. Frank Maloney

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Syracuse Baptist Church for Mrs. Frank Maloney, 90, who died Thursday at her home two miles southwest of Syracuse. The Rev. Bob Potter will officiate.

Burial will be in Syracuse Cemetery. The body is at the Richards Funeral Home, Tipton.

R. S. Love

Graveside services and burial will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Crown Hill Cemetery for R. S. (Bob) Love, 76, a former Sedalia man, who died Wednesday at his home in Maplewood, Mo. The Rev. Cleo Gray, pastor of East Broadway Christian Church, will officiate.

The body will arrive in Sedalia by train at 4 a.m. Saturday and will be taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Rogers Infant

Funeral services for Stephen Douglas Rogers, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rogers, 710 East 18th, who died Wednesday, were at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold officiated.

Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery.

A 1955 grey Plymouth was also seen speeding north on a side road which hits Highway 50 just east of the Brown station. The driver of the latter car was reported dunched down low in the driver's seat as if to conceal his identity.

First reports received by the sheriff indicated the robber got only about $20 in $1 bills, but Jerry Brown, proprietor of the Brown stations, went to the station to make a check and found about $50 is missing, according to Cressley.

Later in the morning at 11:40 a.m. a white Chevrolet answering the description of the first speeding auto was reported proceeding west on Griesen Road.

Deputy Couts searched the northern part of the county to Beaman and back by another route, but found no trace of the robber. Couts encountered tire troubles on his patrol car during the search.

The investigation was continuing as the Democrat went to press.

Noted Sedalian

Tom Ireland Dies Friday; Known For Varied Talents

George Thomas Ireland, 97, son of a slave girl and of the brother of a southern governor, died Friday morning at Bothwell Hospital. He had been a Sedalian since he was two years old. His grandparents and his mother, freed by the Emancipation Proclamation, brought him here by ox-cart from the South.

His death came six days after a son, Ernest Ireland, an employee of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, died of a heart attack.

Ireland's kaleidoscopic, vigorous, and long life saw him in such wide-ranging rolls as shoeshine boy, newspaper pressman, publisher and worker for 62 years, medical student, teacher, traveling minstrel, valet, part owner of a saloon, politician, ragtime musician, bicyclist of note, store owner, custodian of the Pettis County Courthouse, railroad worker, and finally as custodian for the Sedalia Democrat-Capital. He went to work for the newspaper in 1886 and retired June 1, 1946, after taking a sick leave of three months.

He was born Dec. 8, 1865, the son of Maria and Jachariah Bonds. He was named for his father's brother, Tom, who became governor of Texas in 1872. Ireland attended school in Sedalia until he was 16 years old. His father's family provided partial financial support. In 1884, he went to work for the old Sedalia Bazaar, graduating from carrying cinders to pressman's helper and later press foreman. He went to the Democrat in 1886, staying until 1888, when he went to Central Tennessee College, in Nashville, as a medical student. He studied there five years, completing high school and college. In college, he worked on two school newspapers.

For a summer he taught at Gallatin, Tenn., returned to school and worked on the Constitutional, a night paper in Nashville.

When the Columbian Exposition was in progress in 1893, he was employed in a Chicago printing office. He then returned to the Gazette in Sedalia, where he was employed until he purchased The Western World, a Negro newspaper, which he published for three years. The building burned one night and the opposition paper headlined the story the next morning "World Destroyed by Fire."

After that business venture,

Rob

"Come on, give me your money," the man said thrusting the pistol at Cressley.

"He was standing close to me and I thought the gun looked like a cap pistol," Cressley said, "so I made a reach for it."

"He backed up and that's when he put me in the back room of the station," Cressley said.

The robber then took the money and departed. Cressley was unable to determine whether he left in a car or not.

"I didn't hear any car motor," Cressley said.

Cressley was not bound by the robber and he quickly came out of the back room and telephoned Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, the call reaching the office at 10 a.m. Deputy Sheriff Jack Couts went to the scene first and the sheriff's department alerted other law enforcement agencies in the area.

Cressley described the bandit to Couts as being 5-feet-8-inches tall, 170 pounds, wearing a black scarf as a mask over his face, a cap, orange raincoat and black trousers. Cressley said the dark scarf over the robber's face had light blue flowers in its pattern.

The sheriff's department received two reports of speeding autos in the vicinity and these were relayed to the State Highway Patrol. Shortly after the robbery a solid white 1963 Chevrolet was reported speeding westerly near the east city limits of Sedalia. An unidentified woman told the sheriff's department that the car was driving about 75 m.p.h. and the car nearly hit some pedestrians.

A 1955 grey Plymouth was also seen speeding north on a side road which hits Highway 50 just east of the Brown station. The driver of the latter car was reported dunched down low in the driver's seat as if to conceal his identity.

First reports received by the sheriff indicated the robber got only about $20 in $1 bills, but Jerry Brown, proprietor of the Brown stations, went to the station to make a check and found about $50 is missing, according to Cressley.

Later in the morning at 11:40 a.m. a white Chevrolet answering the description of the first speeding auto was reported proceeding west on Griesen Road.

Funeral services for Stephen Douglas Rogers, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rogers, 710 East 18th, who died Wednesday, were at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold officiated.

Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Curtis Keithley, 48, a frequent tenant at the city and county jails, waived a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Friday morning on a charge of stealing over $50 and was bound over for trial during the September term of Circuit Court.

Judge Frank Armstrong set Keithley's bond at $1,000 and Keithley was taken to the county jail in lieu of the amount.

Keithley was charged in connection with the theft and subsequent sale of several items from the residence of Irene Thomas, 412 North Hurley.

She valued the items at $129 in her report to Sedalia police.

Keithley was in the city jail after being convicted of intoxication in Police Court Thursday and sentenced to 10 days. He was turned over to Sheriff Emmett

Tom Ireland

Ireland was part owner of The Future Capital Saloon and operated a store in his home for a few years.

As a politician, Ireland was

... in cycling days

chairman of the Queen City Republican Club.

Ragtime was born in Sedalia and Ireland was a friend and fellow musician of Scott Joplin. Joplin fathered ragtime with the Maple Leaf Rag and other songs, which became the musical rage of the nation. Ireland was a clarinetist in the Queen City Band, of which Joplin was a member. He joined Mahara's Minstrel Carnival and traveled with it through the United States and Canada.

W. C. Handy, composer of the St. Louis Blues, was a Sedalia visitor in the 1890's. Ireland played with him at the Main Street Maple Leaf Club.

On his birthday, Dec. 8, 1896, Ireland married Miss Mary Gravitt in Sedalia. They had two sons, Ernest, and George Thomas Ireland, Jr., who lives in Los Angeles. Mrs. Ireland died several years ago.

When Ireland was 92 years old he was still riding his bicycle, purchased in 1963, every day. During his career as a cyclist, which was noted in a national magazine, he took more than 20,000 trips on the same vehicle and liked to travel 60 or 70 miles on some excursions. He often crossed Georgetown as his destination.

Surviving besides his son are two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Ernest Ireland, of the home, 209 East Cooper, and Mrs. Bessie Ireland, Los Angeles, Calif.; one niece, Mrs. Helen Mitchell, Los Angeles; and several cousins.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Monday at Allen and Sons Funeral Home. The Rev. J. E. Gillum, pastor of Taylor Chapel AME Church, will officiate.

Pallbearers will be: William Casson, Lane Johnson, Finis Green, Charles Shepherd, Robert Plater and Arvin Crowley, the same pallbearers used for the son's services Tuesday of this week.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Dodgers Take the Opener; Koufax Posts 20th Victory

By MIKE RATHETT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, who took San Francisco to the cleaners for his 20th victory, has sent Red Patterson to the barbers.

Koufax' three-hit pitching and a 15-hit Los Angeles attack that provided the most runs lavished on a Dodger pitcher in 45 games, combined to give the National League leaders a 11-1 victory over second-place San Francisco Thursday night.

By taking the opener of the four-game series, the Dodgers dropped the defending champion Giants 6½ games behind, and into an almost impossible situation. If the Dodgers win half of their remaining 30 games, the Giants must win 21 of 29 to finish in tie for the pennant.

The Dodger explosion, coming after a seven-game drought also assured Patterson of a long overdue haircut. The club's assistant general manager had vowed not to clip his locks until the Dodgers scored four runs in one inning.

In the third inning before a crowd of 54,978—largest in the majors this season—the Dodgers trimmed the Giants for five runs. While Koufax was posting his 20th victory, Dick Ellsworth won No. 19 as the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 2-1. The New York Mets whipped Pittsburgh 7-4 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Koufax, bringing his record to 20-5, allowed only a single by Jim Davenport in the first, a homer by Orlando Cepeda in the second and a single by Jose Pagan in the fifth. Koufax struck out seven and allowed only one walk.

The Giants started Bob Bolin. He lasted into the second inning when Pierce, 3-10 took over. Ron Fairly accounted for the first of his four runs batted in with a single in the first before the Dodgers batted around in the five-run third.

Wally Moon's one-out single got the Dodgers started. Tommy Davis then doubled and both scored on a single by Fairly. Frank Howard followed with his 23rd homer. A double by Willie Davis and a single by Maury Williams accounted for the final run of the outburst that put it away.

Ellsworth, now 19-7, became the winningest Cub left-hander since Jim Vaughn won 19 in 1929 when he started in the second inning.

Chiefs Coach Sees Team Repeaters for AFL Title

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Coach Hank Stram rates his young, talented and spirited Kansas City team as 25 to 35 per cent improved over 1962 and agrees they have the ability to repeat as American Football League champions.

The Chiefs were the youngest team ever to win a pro title with an average age of 23 years last season at Dallas. They are a year older and wiser and are bolstered by a half dozen outstanding rookies.

"Our biggest weakness in '62 was punting and this has been plugged by rookies Jarrel Wilson and Stoen Johnson," Stram said. "We can throw more long scoring passes this fall because of the development of flanker Frank Jackson, rookie Johnson and tight end Fred Arkansas into outstanding receivers."

Our defense is stronger mainly because of experience. The line, linebackers and secondary are doing more things by instinct now."

The Chiefs have six all-AFL stars returning, plus the AFL rookie of the year, fullback Curtis McClinton, a swift 232-pounder from Kansas.

Halfback Abner Haynes, a gifted runner and pass receiver, is considered the league's best back. Len Dawson, given a chance by Stram, his backfield coach at Purdue, was the AFL's best quarterback in '62. His dead-eye passing was the key to the club's winning surge.

Psycho and The Beast, otherwise known as Sherrill Headrick and E. J. Holub, form the AFL's best pair of linebackers. Both were AFL defensive choice, along with safety Bob Hunt.

Stram's watchword is versatility and his club has it. The Chiefs had near-perfect balance between running and passing last year and led the league in defense. The AFL is in for more of the same this year.

Split end Chris Burford, the AFL's acknowledged best on a crucial third-down pass, is the top receiver. Jackson, a dangerous runner, and Johnson, an Olympic sprinter from Grambling, La., College, both are threats—not to mention the redoubtable Haynes.

Hodges Home In Brooklyn As Twins Cream Senators

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even 225 miles away, Gil Hodges must have felt the shock waves.

Hodges was home in Brooklyn and the blasting went on in Washington, where Minnesota's muscular Twins creamed his Senators for 12 homers among 35 assorted hits Thursday for a runaway doubleheader sweep, 14-2 and 10-1.

By hitting eight homers in the opener, the Twins matched a single game major league record, and by adding four more in the second game they picked up a pair of big league marks—15 for three consecutive games and 17 for four. They collected five in their doubleheader split at Washington Monday.

Between the doubleheaders, Hodges spent the two days off in Brooklyn—and was stuck there when he got hit by a virus. The Washington manager still was confined to his home when the Senators got hit by the Twins.

Rookie lefthander Gary Peters registered his 11th straight victory and smacked a two-run homer for the Chicago White Sox, who clipped Cleveland 7-2 and stayed in ahead of the Twins in their battle for second place in the American League.

Boston and Bill Monbouquette stopped New York's front-running Yankees, scoring on Elston Howard's passed ball in the ninth inning for a 4-3 decision. That left the Yanks 11 games ahead of the White Sox, with the Twins another one-half game behind in third.

In the AL's other game, Hank Aguirre fired a two-hitter and Al Kaline took over the league batting lead as Detroit rolled to their eighth straight victory, 6-1 over the Los Angeles Angels, Kansas City and Baltimore were idle.

Harmon Killebrew was Minnesota's biggest belter at Washington with three of the 12 homers, while Vic Power, Jim Hall and Bernie Allen each had two. Bob Allison, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles added one apiece. The dozen was one shy of the major league high for two games.

Grand Rapids Downs Wichita Glass 8-4 In Non-Pro Tourney

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Second-place Grand Rapids, Mich., defeated Wichita Glass 8-4 Thursday night and temporarily took over the lead in the National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament.

Hollandale, Miss., defeated Leachville, Ark., 7-4, scoring four unearned runs in the first three innings. It was the second loss for Leachville and knocked the Arkansas team out of the double-elimination tourney.

Bill Davis hit three successive home runs and drove in six runs in Grand Rapids' triumph. The feat equalled a three-homer mark shared by Tom Angle, Houston, Tex., 1940; Paul Fugitt, Albuquerque, N.M., 1951; and Cal Felix, Fort Wayne, Ind., 1951.

All eight American Football

League teams also will be in action in the final tune-ups for their regular season opening next week.

On Saturday, the Houston Oilers,

2-2, and Kansas City Chiefs, 3-1, play at Wichita, Kan.; the Denver Broncos, 2-2, and Buffalo Bisons, 2-1, are at Winston-Salem, N.C.; and the Oakland Raiders, 3-1, meet the Chargers, 3-1, at San Diego. In a Sunday game between winless clubs, the Boston Patriots, 0-4, take on the New York Jets, 0-3, at New Brunswick, N.J.

The 49ers have shown vital weaknesses in their three pre-season losses to date, principally in their running game and at pass defense. On the other hand, the 20-bit offense, was the opening the fourth, gave the Red Sox a 3-2 lead but the Yankees drew even in the sixth and it stayed tied until the ninth. Then Ed Bressoud and Russ Nixon singled, and Howard let one of Stan Williams' pitches get by him—allowing the winning run to score.

Monbouquette limited the Yanks to six hits, running his record to 18-3.

Peters also threw a six-hitter for the White Sox and capped their tie-breaking five-run rally

McGowan Is Ending His Long Career

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Donald Wilson McGowan, with almost half a century of military service and two world wars behind him, retires Saturday from service and as chief of the National Guard Bureau.

McGowan, who has headed the bureau since July 1959, will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, deputy chief of the bureau.

As a battalion sergeant major, McGowan went overseas with the 29th Division in June 1918. He was released from active duty in November 1918, to become a cadet at West Point, but resigned the following year and rejoined the New Jersey National Guard. He came up through the ranks and in January 1941 was called to federal service in the rank of colonel. As commander he took the 102nd Mechanized Cavalry outfit to Europe in 1942. He fought in the D-Day assault, in Brittany, Belgium and Holland, returning to the United States in late 1945 and then to become deputy adjutant general for New Jersey.

Compulsory Arbitration A Challenge

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Compulsory arbitration of the rail labor dispute adds still another challenge to a year of change in labor-management issues and solutions.

Sabbaticals for long-time employees, bonuses as compensation for automation, continuous negotiations to minimize strike threats, stress on fringe benefits rather than pay boosts, charges of racial bias by some unions and lack of equal job opportunities, and an increased emphasis on the public interest in labor disputes—all seem to be chiseling out a new look in labor-management relations.

Congress has ordered compulsory arbitration for the first time in a peace year. It has put off—at least for six months—the threat of a strike that would idle the nation's railroads.

The chief issue was over what management calls feather bedding—union-protected jobs that the companies say are no longer needed. This issue is debated in a number of other industries.

Youth Gets Money At Point of Gun

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Coral Gables loan firm several days ago turned down a young man's request for money because he was under 21.

"Come back with a co-signer," said Charles Jones, the manager.

The young man returned Thursday with another youth and a revolver.

They fled with $512.

Fatal Bug Triangle Under Consideration

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Florida bug experts want to play cupid, but they have malice instead of love in mind.

About 350 University of Florida scientists, government researchers and industrial entomologists will discuss various methods of ridding the state of insects during the 46th annual meeting of the Florida Entomology Society Sept. 11-13.

Among the proposals to be considered is one involving the germ-carrying house fly, the pesky eye knat and the blood-sucking mosquito. The object is to introduce a fatal love triangle that would spell their doom.

House Painters Have Way Of Working Around Women

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If fortune ever favors me with a rebirth, I've decided to come back to earth as a painter.

Not as a Rembrandt or a Da Vinci.

Not even as a Picasso or a Dali. Just as a house painter—a plain ordinary house painter.

In a world of chafing conformity, the house painter is about the freest soul I know. He bows to no man's bidding, and yields to no woman's whim or will.

It's all part of today's labor picture.

To this is now added the example of government embarking on compulsory arbitration in the public interest, and perhaps a trend toward a revamping of labor and management relations on many fronts.

New Pattern Needed For Partnership

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Church leaders say a "new pattern of partnership between men and women" is needed.

"We are beset by the conflicting ideologies of masculine paternalism and aggressive feminism," said a report by the division of ecumenical action of the World Council of Churches, which includes most Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The male's impulse to rule the roost, and the woman's drive to outdo him are blighting relationships between the sexes, the study maintained.

Presented by Dr. Kathleen Bliss, of Sussex, England, chairman of the division, to the council's central committee today, the report called for social patterns and legislation expressing the "equality of men and women."

In calling for standards of equality, the report said this didn't mean men or women should assume roles "alien to their natures and culture."

A flurry of debate arose Wednesday after an address by Dr. Klaus Von Bismarck of Cologne, West Germany. He said churches both in the West and the Communist East sometimes confuse the gospel with state ideologies.

Churchmen from Communist countries challenged this. "The Church cannot adopt Communist ideology," insisted Bishop Tibor Bartho, of Debrecen, Hungary.

But he said that in the political-economic realm, Communists in many areas "are doing a splendid job."

Declared Russian Orthodox Archpriest Vitaly Borovoy, of Leningrad: "Even the Communists are frightened at the idea of any such confusion of the two, even if the churches attempted to promote it."

Kinney Heading Memorial Drive For Donnelly

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Sen. Michael Kinney, D-St. Louis, announced today he is heading a statewide campaign to raise funds for a Phil M. Donnelly foundation to memorialize the late Gov. Donnelly.

Donnelly died Sept. 12, 1961 after serving two terms as governor, 1944-48 and 1952-56, the only Missourian ever to win that honor.

Kinney said sponsors of the drive plan to erect a bronze bust of Donnelly on the front steps of the Laclede County courthouse where he practiced law for many years. His son is a lawyer at Lebanon now and his widow lives there.

Kinney, the only remaining senator who served in the Missouri Senate with Donnelly, said it is hoped enough money also can be raised to construct bronze doors with lettering telling of Donnelly's career.

Blame Death Of TV Shows On Bad Slot

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There are no bad television shows. Some are just luckier than others.

At least that's the way it seems if one listens to discussions by producers, directors and stars.

The most common cause of program mortality appears to be an ailment called "bad time slot." This means that if a program failed in the late evening, it would have succeeded in the early evening. Or vice versa. Or that, if it died on a Monday night, it would have been the hit of the year on a Thursday.

Usually, however, it means that it was murdered by the competing program which attracted most of the viewers.

Never has a program died because it was too bad for the public. But television's Boot Hill is heavily populated with series that succumbed because, it is alleged, they were "too good for the public."

Two program deaths last season were attributed to this fatal ailment: "It's a Man's World" and the "Merv Griffin Show."

By general agreement, the best television horse opera made was a short-lived series called "The Westerner." It succumbed, according to most expert diagnoses, because, the same experts assert, they were too fanciful.

Now, on the eve of a new television season, schedules are being studied meticulously, and chances for survival of new shows are being anxiously weighed. Some — a very few — will be hits and some will quietly disappear. Survival will be attributed as usual, to superior quality. Failure, as usual, will be nothing but bad luck, poor position or that unappreciative public.

Arthur Godfrey will do a special for NBC — a Thanksgiving program. The veteran performer, after all those years as a CBS star, now is free to make television appearances on other networks, and is anxious to get a regular, weekly series.

There is one television trend very evident at this moment: Longer and longer programs. NBC, for example, is announcing several 90-minute specials for this year and is deep in plans for a series of two-hour shows next season.

"Wagon Train" now expands to 90 minutes, following "The Virginian's" lead, and there is the 90-minute "Arrest" and "Trial" show.

Greatest advantage of a longer show is that it is likely to keep the home audiences glued to one channel and reduces the amount of dial switching.

Performers, however, deplore the trend because it reduces still further the amount of work available. With all the long shows—45 this season—and the comparatively small number of feature movies currently being made in Hollywood, there are a lot of unemployed actors around, including some big star names who are available — nay, eager — for any kind of work.

TV In Sight! BELLE OF "BONANZA"

First regular female member of the "Bonanza" cast is cute Kathie Browne. She will provide romance for Adam Cartwright (Pernell Roberts), with marriage after several episodes if public accepts the idea.

White House Library Gets 3 Mott Books

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Frank Luther Mott, dean emeritus of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, will have three of his books among the 1,780 to be added to the White House library.

Two of the books by Dean Mott are among the 35 selected for the library's periodicals and journalism category, "American Journalism: A History 1690-1960," which was revised in 1962, and "A History of American Magazines," in four volumes.

For volumes II and III of the latter work, he received the Pulitzer Prize for American history in 1939.

His third book to be selected is "Golden Multitudes: The Story of Best Sellers in the United States," published in October 1947.

Dean Mott is internationally known as an author, editor, educator, researcher and historian.

Studio Puts Big Names In 'Best Man'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With the 1964 presidential election approaching, United Artists is confident "The Best Man" will win.

The company is backing a film version of the hit play by Gore Vidal and giving it a presidential cast. Starring are Henry Fonda ("Young Mr. Lincoln") and Cliff Robertson ("PT 109"). There also is Lee Tracy, who played the third top role, that of the peppery ex-president, on Broadway.

Adapting the play to film is Vidal. Part of the deal when he sold the film rights was that he would go along as adapter.

He sold a hit play, "Visit to a Small Planet," to the movies and it ended up as a vehicle for Jerry Lewis.

"I didn't see the Lewis picture, but I read the script," said Vidal. "As far as I could see, they used none of my original."

"The Best Man" was first placed in the hands of Frank Capra, whose "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "State of the Union" made him seem a natural. But the collaboration soured.

The project was revived by producers Stuart Miller and Larry Turman. It will be in the theaters by next spring, when the presidential fever should be pitched high.

"I'm very pleased at the prospects," said Vidal. "The casting is fine, and I'm delighted that Lee Tracy will be doing his part. I take credit for that."

Although the play is more than three years old, Vidal said little updating was needed.

"The Best Man" concerns chicanery within a party convention and was written by a political insider. Vidal is the grandson of a senator and himself ran unsuccessfully for Congress. He admitted to having some help with the play.

"President Kennedy read the first draft and gave me a couple of lines," said Vidal. "One thing he told me was there was one way to be sure when a politician was going to knife you. That was when he said in parting, 'Just let me know if there's anything I can do for you.'"

Two Inmates Flee From Honor Farm

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Two inmates fled from the federal penitentiary honor farm Thursday night.

Prison officials said they were Ora Lindell Hitchcock, 31, of Grants, N.M., and Albert John Schlecht, 28, of Enid, Okla., both truck drivers by occupation.

Hitchcock was sentenced at Kansas City last April 23 to serve two years for taking a stolen vehicle across state lines. Schlecht was sentenced at Oklahoma City Jan. 25 to three years for theft of government property.

They were missed at the 10:30 p.m. count.

Kaiser Employees Share in $314,000

FONTANA, Calif. (AP)—United Steelworkers at Kaiser Steel Corp.'s Fontana Plant will split $314,000 for July under the company-union sharing plan, Kaiser said Thursday.

Since the plan was inaugurated in March, $1,824,000 has been distributed among workers.

For July 4,800 employees will benefit. The company and the union said payments are equivalent to 16 per cent of standard hourly wage rates, on the average. It amounts to about 40 cents per participating hour.

Cost savings under the plan in July amounted to $847,000.

The objective of the union-negotiated plan is to share the savings achieved by improved efficiency.

Will Keep Trains Running

Railroads Move Quickly To Set Up Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroads moved quickly Thursday to set up their side of an arbitration board that will keep the trains running for the next six months at least.

Named to represent management on the new board, created by an act of Congress to head off a strike due to start last midnight, are J. E. Wolfe of Chicago, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, and Guy W. Knight of Philadelphia, vice president for labor relations of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Wolfe was chief negotiator for the railroads at long and futile series of peace-seeking meetings with five on-train unions.

Spokesmen for the unions said they will announce their two appointments to the board by Friday.

The four representatives then will try to agree on three neutral members to round out the seven-member board which will make

Man Held On Federal Charge Here

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — U. S. Commissioner Woodford C. Shely Thursday set bond at $25,000 for Paul V. Lacinak, alias Lowder, who is charged at Columbia, Ohio, with possessing counterfeit $1 bills.

Lacinak, who was arrested at Sedalia, gave his address as Liberty, Mo.

He was returned to Kansas City by Vincent P. Mroz, special agent in charge of the secret service there. Mroz said Lacinak would be formally arraigned in Kansas City later.

A bunch by Police Sgt. Perry A. Franklin and a records check has brought about the arrest of a 36-year-old man wanted in particular on a federal warrant for possession of counterfeit money.

The man, Paul V. Lacinak, who gave police Decatur, Ga., as his address, has used a long list of aliases and is also a fugitive from several other warrants, reportedly including embezzlement and motor car theft.

Police first came in contact with the man about 2:10 a.m. Wednesday when Officers Herbert Mayfield and Joe Bass in a patrol car came upon an altercation. (Please Turn to Page 4 Column 4)

Boy Killed Instantly

WAYLAND, Mo. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Charles Harold O'Day was killed instantly Thursday when he rode his bicycle into the side of a truck.

The wheel of the truck passed over the boy.

Driver of the truck was 46-year-old Marion Earl Horner of Canton.

No charges were filed.

Not A Serious Setback

Rescuers Run Into A Water Deposit

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, driving without letup to determine the fate of trapped Louis Bova, ran into another of nature's snags Thursday—a water deposit—but they said it was not a serious setback to their efforts.

The water was encountered in the 12-inch hole and a companion six-inch shaft, but the experts could not quickly ascertain its depth.

A light rain fell during the day, the first since Aug. 17, four days after Bova, 54, was trapped in a nearby Shepton coal mine along with—but separated from—David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28.

In the intervening time—the 17th day from the cave-in at 9 a.m. Aug. 13—Bova has been without food, and presumed to have subsisted on brackish water. He was last heard from by report of the other two, on Aug. 19.

Fellin and Throne, now recovering in a hospital from their ordeal, both emphasized that the chance of drowning was the greatest hazard of their entombment.

The water was detected Thursday by dropping pebbles down the shafts, the sounds of their splashing then being picked up by ultra-sensitive microphones.

Authorities said the water would in no way deter the rescue attempts, which are being intensified by way of four holes, the one 12 inches in diameter, another 6½ inches across, and the other 3 inches wide. The two larger holes have been bored into the burrow where it is believed Bova was trapped.

Early Thursday a microphone on an intercom system was lowered the more than 300 feet into the chamber, and for hours rescuers shouted down, "Lou! Lou! Hello there, Lou!"

They met only a hollow silence. Crews started enlarging the 12-inch escape hole early Thursday. Supervisors said this work may take two days to complete. When this hole is reamed out to desired diameter a man—strictly a volunteer—may be lowered to the chamber to look for Bova.

H. Beecher Charnbury, state mines secretary, said the decision whether to send down a volunteer will hinge largely on whether the rescuers are convinced they have reached the spot designated by Fellin.

Senate Committee Votes To Urge Ratification Of Test Ban Treaty

Two Attempts To Delay Action On Pact Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 16 to 1 Thursday to urge that the Senate ratify without reservation the treaty to ban all nuclear testing except underground.

Two moves to delay action on the pact were rejected 11 to 5. A 10-7 vote defeated an effort to demand from the Kennedy administration all correspondence between Washington and Moscow leading up to and during negotiations of the treaty.

The senators, acting swiftly, weighed more than two weeks of conflicting testimony by military and scientific experts and political leaders, and agreed to take the treaty to the Senate floor on Monday, Sept. 9.

It was agreed that the committee would include in its report to the Senate the U. S. "understandings" and "interpretations" of the meaning of the treaty's terms. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was among those who had urged reservations to clarify what they consider dangerous, ambiguous language.

Strong proponents of the treaty have protested that reservations would have to be renegotiated and that this might entangle the pact in international wrangling. The course the committee proposed would not require renegotiation, the senators were told.

The lone dissenter of committee approval of the treaty was Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La. He issued a statement later saying this does not mean necessarily that he will vote against ratification when the pact reaches the floor.

Long said he is not convinced that the treaty will not jeopardize the U.S. defense capability and believes the committee should have taken more time to study it. If there was a Senate roll call now, he would vote "no." Long said, but added his views might be changed by additional study of the testimony.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee who announced its action, said a formal report will be made to the Senate next Tuesday or Wednesday. He said debate should be completed by Sept. 16 although this was not a definite prediction.

The move to get all correspondence relating to negotiation of the treaty, including that between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, was made by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa. In the 10-7 turndown, he was supported by Sens. Long, Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio; George D. Aiken, R-Vt.; Frank Carlson, R-Kan.; John J. Williams, R-Del.; and Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D. Ten Democrats voted against the bill.

In contrast to the projected $20-billion increase in federal revenue in three years, there was a rise of only about $21 billion in the past 10 years—from $64.7 billion in 1953 to $85.5 billion in the year which ended June 30.

The estimate of revenue for the present fiscal year is $88.9 billion and $20 billion above this level would be $108.9 billion. A Treasury spokesman said the 1967 revenue would be about $103.9 billion if there is no tax cut and it is assumed that the economy will grow at the same rate that has prevailed since 1956.

Mundt sought to delay a vote until 48 hours after printing the record of the committee's hearings. In losing, 11 to 5, he was supported by Long, Lausche, Hickenlooper and Williams, with Carlson not recorded.

March Marks Intent Civil Rights Definitely More Unified

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of the youngest and perhaps most militant civil rights organization said Thursday the massive march on Washington marked a turning point in the civil rights struggle.

John Lewis, 23, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said in an interview that the civil rights groups "are definitely more unified now than before the march. . . . We have reached the point of no return—we can only go forward—and at an accelerated pace."

Another of the march leaders, Bayard Rustin, said there is need for a master plan for civil rights that goes beyond the integration issue. The civil rights revolution will succeed, he said, "only to the degree that we move this country to the left, because there is no room and no other direction to go."

Rustin called for use of civil disobedience methods by the unemployed—both white and Negro—to get the response from national and local governments that the civil rights movement has achieved.

Rustin told a Socialist party conference that the 10-group coalition behind the big demonstration Wednesday already shows "certain tensions" and that its significance will be momentary unless it gains allies among those two who "wield and can manipulate real economic power."

Rustin specifically called for such an alliance with the labor movement, although adding that he was "not talking about George Meany, whom I don't give a damn about."

Lewis said the civil rights organizations are now ready to expand their efforts in the cause of the over-all civil rights movement.

He noted that his organization is primarily concerned with voter registration drives in the south. "That is our one big problem," Lewis said, "getting people to register and then on to the polls to vote."

"We also are extremely interested in the public accommodations situation," Lewis said. "We want to eat, sleep, recreate, and spend our money any place we choose."

Hanna, still clad in a bathrobe, walked out of the hospital and told McKinney: "We know where those guys are; let's get 'em out." McKinney dressed and joined him.

Hanna's remark to McKinney obviously referred to the five men who were with them at the time of the explosion Tuesday afternoon.

The five were known to have survived the first blast but haven't been heard from since.

SNCC is composed mostly of students from 102 Negro colleges in the South. These Negroes are reinforced by white college youngsters who make up 20 per cent of the SNCC forces.

Find Debris From Two Missing Jets

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A helmet aboard a rubber life raft, some life jackets and an exposure suit, the Air Rescue Service said. Efforts were being made to identify the debris.

About 60 miles away, other aircraft and surface vessels searched an area where a rescue airplane had found more debris. Dozens of ships and airplanes continued to shrink the search by their criss-cross pattern. Searchers had clear weather.

Dozens of ships and aircraft were concentrated in another area 720 miles northeast of Miami, where a rescue airplane located more debris.

Weather in the two areas was reported to be clear.

The Air Force said the tanker planes were last heard from about noon Wednesday, 800 miles northeast of Miami.

The craft have a range of 4,500 miles and a cruising speed of 600 miles an hour. They would have run out of fuel at 6 p.m. EST Wednesday.

The four-engine jets have been used to refuel, among other craft, the high-flying U2 reconnaissance

The Fairs of the Future

This, the concluding day of the 61st annual Missouri State Fair, points up one incontestable interpretation — people are fair-minded. Attendance figures support this.

Aside from amusement or entertainment factors which are always popular, approval was again evident among fair visitors in support of the educational, agricultural and livestock departments.

One can scarcely believe there are so many diversified attractions at the fair.

But they are there — the horse show, the mules, beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine, sheep, goats, poultry, rabbits, corn, beans, ham and bacon, apiculture products, horticulture, floriculture, home economics, fine arts, music, hobbies, machinery, bands and parades, horseshoe pitching, races, grand stand shows, the carnival and numerous other attractions.

Remember this when the 1964 fair rolls around and pick your favorite classification to enter for premium money or personal enjoyment. By then there may be even more attractions, more divisions for exhibitors. These are greatly in demand by those who participate annually in the fair. More adequate housing is needed, too.

On the agenda for future expansion is a modern horse show pavilion. This and many other new features are being encouraged by Don Thompson, Commissioner of Agriculture and W. H. Ritzenthaler, Fair Secretary, who are demonstrating they are alert to new ideas for improvements which will meet public approval.

The Missouri State Fair at Sedalia is a huge operation. Its status is secure providing the management is given support to meet the requirements of exhibitors for more facilities the natural consequence of which will be increased attendance.

Those who have intimate connection with the fair's operation are certainly more sensitive to the public's pulse which indicates a desire for bigger and better Missouri State Fairs. This being the case they need more than tacit public support, they need the favorable and suggestive vocal support that comes from every fair enthusiast bending the ear of his representative in the Missouri Legislature.

Come now, then, let's start beating the drums for the Missouri State Fairs of tomorrow.

Finding Your Island

Breathes there a harried soul so barren of imagination that he hasn't at one time or another, vowed to retire to an island of his own as at least a temporary retreat from turmoil and troubles?

It may come as a surprise that many people are doing just that — moving to an island during vacation days or retirement years. Not any old island. Their very own island!

With roads snaking their way into hitherto inaccessible portions of the United States and Canada, and with the up-and-down versatility of the taxi-helicopter becoming ever more

OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN: Clear as Mud. — Really, Herkimer, price fixing is simple. If private companies have a product with the same relative cost of production, and seem to sell it at a similar price, that may be considered illegal price fixing and the federal government may grab them by the neck. But when the government itself sets the price of milk and other commodities at the raw products end of the chain, that's not price fixing. If the state legislature fixes prices for haircuts and cleaning that's not illegal, either.

Internationally, for those with a little more scratch in the pocketbook, at least one agency will help you search for your own private bit of paradise anywhere on earth.

Going rate for islands is anywhere from $300 upward. How to get them is something else again. Since each state has its own land-buying requirements, residence standards, etc., and since Canadian laws differ from the United States on the subject, finding your island takes some doing.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Socialist Life Keeps Mr. K. Young

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth and final column by Drew Pearson based on his interview with Premier Khrushchev.)

By DREW PEARSON

GAGRA, Georgia, U.S.S.R.—This interview with Khrushchev was more hurried than last because he was leaving for Yugoslavia.

"Because of this," he said, "I can't invite you to go swimming. The last time you were here, I remember that you swam like a seal while I wore a rubber tire. I couldn't keep up with you."

However, Khrushchev showed us his beautiful tiled pool, 75 feet long with a glass partition which, at the push of an electric button, slides out to enclose the pool from cold air. It was anything but cold on this sunny Georgian afternoon and Khrushchev wore a loose Ukrainian shirt embroidered in blue at the collar, without a necktie.

Four of his grandchildren played on the beach below. Children grow fast and in two years it seemed as if they had shot up like beanstalks. Two years before Khrushchev had complained that his doctor was making the children capitalistic by bribing them with candy. This year they looked too old to be babies.

Down the coast half a mile Khrushchev pointed to the spot where the Soviet government is building a rest house for 5,000 people. He didn't seem concerned about the fact it will completely destroy his privacy.

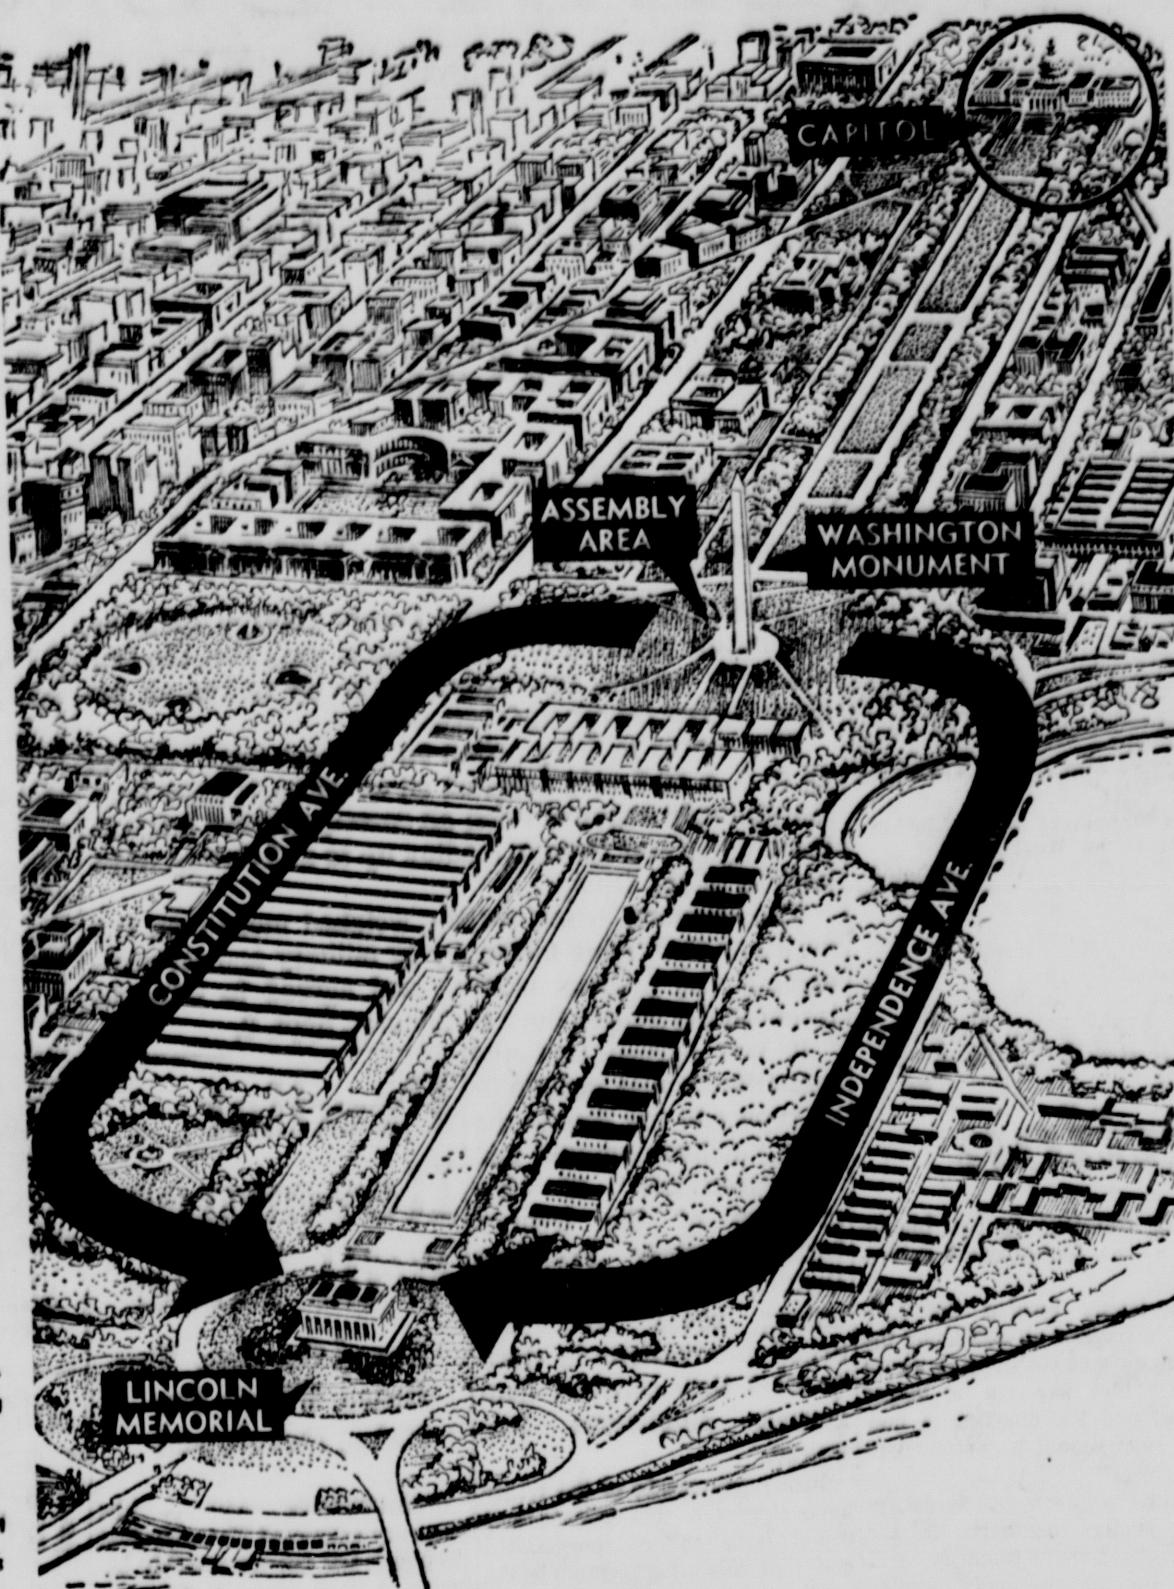

Khrushchev, now 69 years old, last spring talked about retiring but outwardly he had not changed in the two years since I saw him. His hands looked young, his girth about the same. There were no wrinkles in his face, although he did look tired around the eyes.

When I asked how he kept looking so young, he replied, "It is the good socialist life I lead."

The Red-Boss Look

You can't help noting a resemblance between Khrushchev and other socialist leaders in this part of the world. I have now interviewed Tito of Yugoslavia, Zhivkov of Bulgaria, and Gheorghiu-Dej of Romania. All came up through the ranks of trade unions. All suffered arrest and torture in prison and wounds in war. All are rotund today and enjoy good food. All are genial, outgoing and wise-cracking, and seem friendly toward the United States. So I asked Khrushchev whether he had been training other leaders to act like him.

All Plans Made to Keep Washington March Orderly

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper: Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — Washington is literally holding its breath until the Aug. 28 March for Freedom and Jobs by from 100,000 to maybe 300,000 civil rights advocates is all over and done with.

If it comes off as the orderly demonstration its organizers have planned, it can be a dramatic and impressive example for the world of a peaceful peoples' protest.

It could be reduced to a fiasco by a little thing like a late summer afternoon thunderstorm.

The presence of sympathetic white marchers — perhaps a fourth of the total — is good insurance against racial disturbances.

Unintentional accidents creating panic are the most serious concern.

To the credit of the march organizers, from A. Philip Randolph on down to the bus captains and parade marshals, every effort is being made to keep out Communists or other troublemakers.

To the credit of Washington police under Chief Robert V. Murray and his top deputies, American Nazi party Fuehrer George L. Rockwell and his like will be kept under control.

The original "Big Six" organizers — James Farmer, Martin Luther King, John Lewis, A. Philip Randolph, Roy Wilkins and Whitney Young — have become a "Big Ten."

The additional leaders are Mathew Ahmann of National Catholic Conference on Interracial Justice, Eugene Carson Blake of National Council of Churches, Joachim Prinz of American Jewish Conference and Walther Reuther of United Auto Workers. All will speak at the Lincoln Memorial in a two-to-three-hour program.

The original $75,000 budgeted to cover march expenses has proved inadequate. It has been raised to nearly $125,000 by a $17,000 contribution from labor unions and $30,000 from churches and civic organizations. But still more is being sought to pay expenses of unemployed workers who want to march.

Sale of badges reading, "March on Washington For Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963" at 25 cents each is expected to raise $50,000 or more.

It will cost the District of Columbia nearly $100,000 to direct traffic, police the march, provide first aid and sanitary facilities, clean up the mess after it's over.

To handle the crowd will require 2,500 local police, another 1,000 in Virginia and Maryland, 2,000 National Guardsmen, nearly 1,000 Army Military Police and 2,000 parade marshals.

he. He smirked at history, dismissed philosophy, laughed at religion, denied law, accepting only the creed of the nihilist. He could not nor would not believe that truth is next door.

To stand at the wall is to think of all of this. Two women lean from a window on the 4th floor of an apartment in the East Zone, watching me take photographs. They are so near and so far. What do they think?

Two soldiers turn abruptly away as I snap the shutter. What do they think?

It is easier to discern the thoughts of the older lady who tearfully parts from her daughter at the passport control desk serving as the effective political barrier.

People stare at us as we walk through the near-empty streets on the East Zone side of this amazing city. What do they think? What do I think?

This incredible wall is the crude projection of the evil in us all. We permit walls, tolerate them and sometimes build them by our own acts. With the Jews of old I could have waited at this wall. With St. Paul I have a new appreciation of his description of Jesus. "He hath broken down the wall of hostility between us—and has created a new man."

That's our hope—and you come away with a new determination to build bridges next door — not walls.

The "Steady" Problem

By RUTH MILLETT

To most high school girls—and boys, too—the big question these days may not be nuclear testing, the moon race, or even the nation's gross product. It's whether to go steady or not to go steady.

I'd like to contribute my two cents' worth on this, as follows:

At 15 or 16 a girl should be thinking of having fun instead of romance. She should be getting acquainted with a lot of different boys, instead of spending all her time with one.

The desire to go steady at that age is a sign of insecurity. The girl is afraid if she doesn't tie up one boy she can count on she will be left out of things at school. If she can be made to see that she's wrong, going steady won't seem quite so desirable.

Besides, it is kids who go steady, when they are too young to handle grown-up emotional problems who most often get into trouble.

And there is always the other danger—that the girl who goes steady at 15 or 16 will run off and get married before she is old enough to settle down to married life.

Those are valid reasons why parents should discourage teenagers from going steady.

Discouraging it, though, is easier said than done. If Annie protests that if she doesn't go steady with Dick, he'll find some other girl who will, she isn't going to be easy to convince.

But if firm and loving parents can talk her out of the idea, she'll be grateful in years to come.

Swiss Decide To Sign Test Ban

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The government has announced it will sign the Moscow test ban treaty, but reserves the right to acquire atomic weapons.

The decision, announced Friday after an extraordinary Cabinet meeting, was expected to be approved by Parliament at its session opening Sept. 16. The government said its envoys will sign the treaty next month in Washington, London and Moscow.

The government announcement said that Switzerland "of course" retains its freedom of decision whether to arm with nuclear weapons. This decision will only be influenced by further developments.

Although there appears little chance in the foreseeable future for this small country to acquire nuclear weapons, most Swiss feel Switzerland should retain the possibility of acquiring the most effective weapons against an aggressor.

Moon Shot Boss Termned A 'Fighter'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When outspoken D. Brainerd Holmes quit as boss of the U.S. moon program a lot of people predicted his successor would have to be a quiet plunger who would never argue with space boss James E. Webb.

Those people are in for a surprise when Dr. George E. Mueller (pronounced Miller) takes over Holmes' job in Washington Sept. 1.

Compared with Holmes and Webb, ex-professor Mueller is quiet, but there his resemblance to the forecast image ends.

He is a brilliant scientist—not just a plunger—and when convinced he is right, friends say, he'll do more than argue—he will fight until he drops.

Deeply emotional, much more so than his almost ascetic face and figure hint, Mueller once sat at a launch control panel at Cape Canaveral, Fla., for more than 20 hours without rest.

He was 40 then, but he wore younger men to exhaustion fiddling with dials trying futilely to make the third-stage injection rockets of ill-fated Pioneer 1 fire and go into orbit around the moon.

The bird just wasn't responding to radio commands. But Mueller stayed with the task until all hope was lost.

That was five years ago.

Today, in his white-carpeted office at Space Technology Laboratories, where Mueller is vice president for research and development, the only personal object visible is a keepsake dating back to that period of his life.

It's a plastic-embedded fragment of an unnamed 1958 rocket which Mueller calls Pioneer O. Moon-aimed, too, this rocket blew up during launch.

The fragment is going with him when he moves to Washington as deputy associate administrator for manned space flight in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

He will run the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo capsule development program and, if he lasts, he will be largely responsible when an Apollo lands the first Americans on the moon sometime before 1970.

Mueller is confident the job can be done, and that he can do it. He says his first concern will be the $20-billion to $40-billion moon program, but he is also looking far beyond.

"It's an open-end program," he says, "and our ultimate objective can only be pre-eminence in space."

Any ideas he may have for achieving this, Mueller is keeping to himself.

"However, he said, "I know of no more successful program than the manned space program, and no need at the moment for me to do anything more than to preserve a successful team."

That sounds like a politically sharp administrator talking, and that's what Mueller has been at Space Technology Laboratories since 1958, when he was named director of the electronics laboratory.

Space Technology Laboratories, started as a civilian think-factory and program management branch of the Air Force, has long since gone commercial and competes for contracts to develop and build space hardware. As such it works closely with both military and civilian branches of the government.

Deeply involved in the management of the Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and Thor missile programs and NASA's Pioneer and Explorer satellites, Mueller has proved he is a top technical man and is expert at managing people. His technical crew numbers 2,000.

An electronics specialist, Mueller is recognized as an authority in the field of communications. He has utilized the time spent flying between here and the East—he makes several trips a month—writing a soon-to-be-published book on communications satellites.

He was a teacher for 10 years and this, too, he regards as a form of communications. "The process of communicating," he says, "is learning to communicate with people."

While on the faculty at Ohio State University, where he took his Ph.D. in physics in 1951, Mueller bought a 50-acre grain farm near Columbus.

When he bought the farm it was fallow and Mueller is understandably proud that he, a city boy from St. Louis, Mo., put in crops and made it pay.

"I love to farm," he says, "but I hate to garden."

He still owns the farm but someone else runs it.

His new job will pay $21,000 a year—considerably less than he gets now—but Mueller shrugs this off: "I have never really worried too much about salary. It's not nearly as important as the job."

Like many other space-age executives, Mueller has no hobbies, no outside interests other than his family: two daughters, Karen Ann and Jean Elizabeth, 16, and his wife, Maude.

"This business has too many facets for one to need a hobby," he says, "and all of them are fascinating."

Three Way TV War By Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The big guns are ready to be wheeled in place, the strategy is planned, and the annual three-way war of the television networks will start four weeks hence.

Weapons, of course, are television programs, and to the victor goes the prize: the lion's share of the viewing audience.

Between Sept. 15 when ABC presents three new series and Oct. 3 when NBC fires its last shot with a new suspense hour, some 32 new programs will be unveiled.

That represents a lot of turnover, almost 40 per cent, when one considers that next season prime time evening schedules will consist of a total of 36 programs.

Among the highlights of the months ahead are the new Judy Garland and Danny Kaye variety hours on CBS; two stories about the same characters and situations in ABC's 90-minute "Arrest" and "Trial" shows, and NBC's "Richard Boone Show" which will be acted by a repertory company.

When the season has started, viewers of the nation's 60 million television sets will be making their weekly choices among the 21 comedy programs, 14 action-adventure tales, 19 anthologies—meaning the same characters in different stories each week, like "Dr. Kildare" or "Perry Mason," 13 variety programs, 4 mystery and suspense series, 7 game shows, 2 NBC reruns of feature movies, and a few others which resist pigeonholing.

ABC, which suffered through a dismal season last winter, has the most new programs coming in, 13, having ruthlessly revised its schedules this year.

Among other changes, it will move its popular "Ben Casey" from Monday nights to Wednesdays, in a starting position conflicting with CBS' "Beverly Hillbillies," last season's most popular network program. Among its new shows, too, is a big-money quiz, "100 Grand," alleged to be rig-proof, which will be seen on Sunday nights.

Some of the most intense industry interest focuses on the outcome of a skirmish for audiences between 9 and 10 p.m. Sundays.

The time period has been held by "Bonanza," NBC's Western for several years without any really tough competition. This season however, both CBS and ABC are on the offensive. CBS has "The Judy Garland Show" in the hour, while ABC has "Arrest" and "Trial." Viewers whose interest has been aroused by the first 45 minutes of the ABC show—which has a half-hour start on Miss Garland—will be reluctant to switch stations—or at least that's the theory.

Plot To Bring Golf To Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — It can now be revealed that the plan to bring golf to Yugoslavia is a plot involving an American diplomat—and also the Yugoslav desire to make things attractive for tourists.

The Communist government is cautiously exploring the possibility of laying out a course. A British civil engineer who designs golf courses has been asked to advise on sites.

Before World War II, when the nation was royalist, members of the royal family, foreign diplomats and other upper-crust elements played the game. With the change to communism, Yugoslavia's two golf courses, one in Belgrade and one in Bled, were turned into general recreation fields.

The impetus for a golf revival came from Robert Cleveland of Washington, counselor for economic affairs at the U.S. Embassy here.

An ardent club swinger himself, Cleveland put around the idea that golf could help in Yugoslavia's drive to attract tourists.

The Tito government thought it over, concluded he might be right and called for the survey.

The British engineer called in is John Harris, who travels 100,000 miles a year designing and advising on golf layouts.

"The Yugoslavs should be good at the game," he says. "The Slav temperament should help."

For years, Communists in general have officially regarded golf as a decadent game espoused only by capitalists.

The Soviet Union—which occupies one-sixth of the earth's land surface—still has no golf course.

Harris says the Belgrade project should take about 2½ years. Yugoslavs who played golf years ago are wondering whether they'll get a crack at the game again.

"But don't expect a golf boom in this country," said one. "If Yugoslavs begin to play golf the general and high government officials will have to take it up first."

Mrs. Edgar Edwin Schnakenberg
Miss Rebecca Williams Married
To Edgar Edwin Schnakenberg

A double ring ceremony at Trinity Lutheran Church, Cole Camp, at half past seven o'clock Sunday evening, Aug. 17, united Miss Rebecca Williams, Columbia, in marriage to Mr. Edgar Edwin Schnakenberg, Cole Camp. The Rev. L. Krout, Cole Camp, and the Rev. Paul W. Czamanske, of Campus Lutheran Church, Columbia, read the ceremony.

Tall floor candelabra marked the aisle and were entwined with smilax and white pompon chrysanthemums. Cathedral tapers flanked the altar and were entwined with smilax and pompon chrysanthemums. Altar bouquets were of white stock and pompons.

Miss Glenda Rhoades, Sedalia, played organ accompaniment for Mr. David Schnakenberg, Cole Camp, cousin of the bridegroom.

He sang "Take Thou My Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Mr. Melvin Schnakenberg, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Bill Giles.

The father of the bride gave her in marriage. She wore a formal gown of pure silk embroidered ribbon organza. The basque bodice was fashioned with a beaded necklace dipping to a V in back which was framed by short sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was highlighted by soft bias embroidered ribbon, which extended in the full skirt and swept into an aisle wide chapel train. Her bouquet was a cascade of gladioli and stephanotis, tied with lovers' knots and satin streamers. A pearl and crystal crown secured her shoulder length veil of imported silk illusion. Her earrings were pearls.

Mrs. Robert Linscott, Sioux City, Iowa, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a lavender chiffon waltz length bouffant skirt. The bodice had a beaded neckline. Argentine lavender roses secured the short illusion veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of white pompon chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Bridesmaids were Miss Louetta Schnakenberg, Cole Camp, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Henrietta Garrison, Warrensburg.

Miss Schnakenberg wore a blue chiffon dress fashioned like that of the matron of honor. A turquoise chiffon gown was worn by Miss Garrison. They carried pompon chrysanthemums and stephanotis bouquets.

Mrs. Kenneth R. Keele

Helen Gayle Julio Is Bride Of Kenneth Keele in Kansas City

Baskets of white gladioli and candelabra entwined with greenery and white satin bows were on the altar of Broadland Presbyterian Church, Kansas City, to set the scene for the half past seven o'clock Aug. 17 wedding of Miss Helen Gayle Julio to Mr. Kenneth R. Keele, the Rev. Elvin Cranwell read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Julio, Kansas City, and Mr. Keele, Kansas City, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Keele, 1902 East Seventh.

Organist was Miss Virginia Strohmeier, Leavenworth, Kan. She accompanied Mrs. Ruth Peace, Kansas City, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an aisle-wide gown of lace over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a yolk of net with a high lace collar. Long tapered sleeves came to points over the hands. The skirt had a full apron effect of lace over net and lace and net fell in alternating tiers from the waist to the floor in the back. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion attached to a crown of pearls and pearlized sequins. She carried a crescent bouquet of white chrysanthemums and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Sharon Clevenger, Kansas City, was matron of honor. Her street-length gown was of ice blue chiffon, jacketed with lace. The jacket had elbow length sleeves. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses and white chrysanthemums.

Initiate Program To Collect For Tickets

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A crash program to collect for 166,000 delinquent traffic tickets was announced by the city Thursday.

Carleton F. Sharpe, city manager, directed that the city seek outside contractual help in developing the drive to collect on the tickets, some dating back to 1953.

Of the 166,000 tickets, 101,000 represent offenses that were issued in the past three years.

Sharpe did not estimate how much revenue the drive would bring in.

"We want everybody to understand in the future that when the city gives a traffic ticket, we mean business," he said.

Forces In Cuba Have Been Called

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government has alerted its militia forces and moved large concentrations of artillery and antiaircraft batteries to the northern coast of Cuba, it was learned Thursday night.

The military moves coincided with widespread reports of a possible new invasion threat by anti-Castro forces. The military was understood to be watching particularly for any attack from Nicaragua or other Central American bases.

The militia alert has been in effect for three days, informants said.

There was no evidence of alarm in Havana, but tight security measures were reported outside the capital.

The Cuban command apparently braced for a repetition of hit-and-run raids reported two weeks ago along the northern coast. Many oil refineries and factories are located there.

The Castro government said those raids proved there was a new plan of aggression against Cuba and declared at the time that the country would take new measures to assure its defense. Troops were deployed along the northern coast.

After raiders were reported to have shelled and machine-gunned a metal plant Aug. 19, the government issued a communiqué accusing the United States of direct responsibility for the attack.

A spokesman for a Cuban exile group called Mambises Commandos told newsmen in Guatemala City that his organization carried out the metal plant raid. He said the commandos operated from new secret bases in the Caribbean and from inside Cuba.

Cuban refugees arriving in Florida reported great activity of Soviet troops in Havana. They said that bridges and strategic points around Havana had been taken over by Russian soldiers, causing some apprehension among Castro's forces.

At a news conference Aug. 20 President Kennedy said there had been a further decline in the number of Russian troops in Cuba, but added it was difficult to say precisely how many remained.

He said the primary emphasis of the remaining troops was on training and not as concentrated military units.

Teenage Husband Is Fined For Drinking

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A teenage husband found out Thursday he can't drink beer with his adult wife in a Missouri tavern.

James H. Campbell, 18, told Acting Municipal Judge Ayers Blocher he really wasn't drinking beer, but just had a soft drink. Police and the tavern operator said it was beer.

Campbell was with 30-year-old Mrs. Campbell when he was arrested. The prosecutor asked if she was his guardian.

"No," the youth replied, "she's my wife."

Campbell's attorney interposed: "You might have a point there."

"If she's a guardian, she's not a good one," commented Judge Blocher. Whereupon he fined Campbell $25.

on a city parking lot at Third and Lamine.

Lacinat was found badly beaten, was taken to Bothwell Hospital for emergency treatment and has remained there since. At that time the man gave his name to police as Paul Lowder, stated he was 36 years of age and gave his address as the Decatur, Ga. address. Two men believed to be his assailants were released when the beaten man refused to prosecute.

Sgt. Franklin said in interrogating the man at the hospital he became suspicious because the man obviously wanted nothing to do with any law enforcement officers. Franklin had police make a routine check through the Kansas City Police Department and federal authorities in the city. The check turned up the warrants for a man answering his description.

Thursday morning an agent for the U. S. Secret Service came to Sedalia and questioned Lacinat at Bothwell Hospital. The agent identified him under his correct name.

The agent issued a statement after he had talked with Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin and Sgt. Franklin.
